

GENETIC INFORMATION

Title II of the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008 (“GINA”) protects applicants and employees from discrimination based on genetic information in hiring, promotion, discharge, pay, fringe benefits, job training, classification, referral, and other aspects of employment. GINA also restricts employers’ acquisition of genetic information and strictly limits disclosure of genetic information. Genetic information includes information about genetic tests of applicants, employees, or their family members; the manifestation of diseases or disorders in family members (family medical history); and requests for or receipt of genetic services by applicants, employees, or their family members. For further information on GINA, please see the poster “Equal Employment Opportunity is The Law,” which should be posted in a common area at your employment location.
